BRIGADIER GENERAL BALDWIN IS RETIRED

Veteran of Civil and Philippine Wars Completes Term of Service on Sixty-fourth Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., June 26.—With a record of forty-five years of brilliant and honorable service to his credit, Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin was placed on the retired list of the army today, having reached the age limit of sixty-four years. General Baldwin is a native of Michigan, born in 1842. He entered the military service as second lieutenant of volunteers on Sept. 9, 1861, and was promoted to captain of the Nineteenth Michigan infantry. He was mustered out of the volunteer service in June, 1865, appointed a second lieutenant in the regular army in February, 1866, and promoted through intermediate grades to colonel on July 26, 1901. The following year he became a brigadier-general.

General Baldwin received the medal of honor for distinguished bravery in the battle of Peachtree Creek, July 20, 1864, and a similar medal for distinguished gallantry in action against the Indians in Texas, for which action he was also brevetted captain. He was brevetted major for gallantry in an attack on the camp of Sitting Bull on the Red River in Montana. General Baldwin commanded the first body of civilized troops that ever successfully reached the south shore of Lake Lanao, island of Mindanao. There was a desperate battle with the Moros at the battle of Bualan, ending in a complete victory for the Americans. General Baldwin's command of 471 lost, 51 killed and wounded. The Moros lost over 200, less than thirty escaping.

The vacancy created in the list of brigadier-generals by the retirement of General Baldwin is filled by the promotion of Colonel Walter T. Duggan, 1st infantry, to the rank of brigadier-general. General Duggan entered the army during the civil war as a private in the 5th Wisconsin infantry. He is not a native of the United States, having been born in the Isle of Man. In 1863 he was appointed to the regular army as a hospital steward and shortly after the close of the civil war he was commissioned as second lieutenant in the 10th infantry. In October, 1902, he became colonel of the 24th infantry and later in the same month was transferred to the command of the 1st infantry and is serving with that regiment in the Philippines.

WISCONSIN DEMMIES TO SUPPORT BRYAN

State Convention in Milwaukee Tomorrow and Sentiment Generally Favors Nebraskan.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—The democratic state convention for the adoption of a platform of principles assembles here tomorrow and numerous party leaders are already gathering for the event. While it was announced at the time it was decided to hold a state convention that no attempt would be made to nominate a ticket, that the work of the convention would be confined to the adoption of a platform, the indications are that the state will be practically agreed upon before the convention is over. There is little question that the convention will endorse William J. Bryan as the party leader. As at present outlined the resolutions will not name Bryan as a candidate for the presidency, but will laud him as the greatest leader of the party now living, and will indicate beyond any possible doubt that Wisconsin democrats would be glad to follow the Nebraskan as the standard bearer in the next presidential campaign.

GIVES INFORMATION AS TO ACCIDENTS

Local Physician Tells What to do in Case of Powder
Wound.

With the approach of the 4th of July celebrations and their attendant accidental wounds to the smaller boys a local physician has issued a special bulletin against neglect of such wounds. If the proper care is exercised and proper treatment given to lockjaw, which causes many deaths each year from Fourth of July accidents it can be prevented. The doctor says that lockjaw is caused by a microbe which is inactive as long as exposed to the air. But when buried in the flesh as in the wounds caused by blank cartridges or percussion caps, the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. The doctor further states that all wounds should be kept exposed to the air and a doctor called immediately.

Stating that he understood that the rental of the Fifth ward voting booth was to be raised, Ald. Dulin introduced an order authorizing the rental by the city at $25 a day of a piece of property just across the street. The matter was laid over two weeks pending investigation. The superintendent of the stonemason was directed to report to the council at each meeting hereafter the number of men employed, the number of yards of stone crushed; the number of yards hailed, and where taken. The committee on public buildings was directed to have wooden shutters put on the Third ward voting booth and that building as well as the Fifth ward booth painted. Mayor Hutchinson was named as delegate to the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Ashland August 22, 23, and 24, expenses to be paid by the city. The meeting adjourned to Monday evening, next when action will be taken on the applications for saloon licenses for the year.WILL INSTALL PALM GARDEN
AT CRYSTAL SPRINGS PARKNew Summer Attraction to be Added to the Up-river Park—Something New Planned.J. E. Fisher has become manager of the Crystal Springs park up the river and plans to make it one of the pleasant places to spend a few hours, not evenings, and Sundays during the summer. Next week he will install a palm garden and new features will be added from time to time. Last Sunday a balloon ascension was witnessed by over a thousand people and this feature will be repeated again this coming Sunday. Manager Fisher says that all the conveniences of the park have been placed in excellent condition, that meals can be obtained on the grounds, a good ball park is at the disposal of visitors, and everything will be run in a first class manner. Under Mr. Fisher's management Crystal Springs park promises to be a popular resort this coming summer. The steamer Columbia makes the trip to the park every hour
so that all can be accommodated.

Melodrama "The Slave Girl" at the Myers theatre Wednesday evening."I Believe In The Use of Beer"

—Rev. A. W. Stein.

Distinguished Divine Pleads For Popular Beverage in The Home.From staid old Fitchburg, Mass., comes the voice of a rector pleading
for the same use of wine and beer.
The Rev. Alexis W. Stein, rector of Christ Episcopal church of that city,
and formerly assistant to the Rev.
Dr. Rainsford at St. George's church,
New York, and previously rector of Christ's church, Cincinnati, believes in facing conditions as they exist.
"I am one of those," he says, "who believe in the use of wine and beer."
The surest cure for the misuse of them is the proper use of them. The man who drinks beer in his home with his family and children about him will get no harm himself nor do any harm to anyone else because he drinks. The man who spends an hour with a group of friends, among whom are women he respects, over one or two glasses of beer or light
wine, as do some European people, will get no harm from it. The beer garden of Germany are positive forces for good in the social life of that country.That is the reverend gentleman's tolerant and rational attitude on the question, and had he gone further and examined into the merits of the various beers he would have agreed with some of our most eminent physicians that Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is the best means to temperance because of its small percentage of alcohol and its great food value. He would also have recommended Pabst
Blue Ribbon Beer, as do the doctors,
"in preference to all other beers because it is the absolutely clean beer,
the beer that is absolutely pure, never touched by human hands and never in contact with any air except sterilized and filtered air from the time it is brewed till it is poured into your glass." That is what one well known doctor said of it.Other doctors say Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is the cleanest, purest, most wholesome beer brewed and our readers will agree with us that the doctors ought to know—Adv.

Dedicatory Message

CHOOSE YE.

At the request of the local Christian Science church, the following message by Mary Baker G. Eddy at the dedication of the addition to the mother church of Christian Science
at Boston, Mass., is printed:By beloved brethren:
The divine might of Truth demands well-doing in order to demonstrate truth, and this not alone in accord with human desire, but with spiritual power. St. John writes:
"Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city."The scar leaves of faith without works, scattered abroad, in Zion's waste places, appeal to reformers.
"Show me thy faith by thy works."
Christian Science is not a dweller apart in royal solitude; it is not a law of matter, nor a transcendentalism that heals only the sick. This Science is a law of divine Mind, a persuasive animus, an unerring impulsus, an ever-present help. Its presence is felt for it acts and acts wisely, always unfolding the highway of hope, faith, understanding. It is the higher criticism, the higher hope;
and its effect on man is mainly this—
that what one knows of him, on examination one is compelled to think genius, whoever it is. A Christian Scientist verifies his calling. Choose ye!When, by losing one's faith in matter and sin, one finds the spirit of Truth, then he practices the Golden Rule, spontaneously, and obedience to this rule spiritualizes man, for the world's noxious poisons cannot infiltrate it. Lust, dishonesty, sin disables the student; it precludes the practice or efficient teaching of Christian Science, the truth of man's being.The Scripture reads: "He that taketh not this cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me." On this basis, how many are following the Way-shower? We follow Truth only as we follow truly, meekly, patiently, spiritually; blessing saint and sinner, with the leaves of divine Love, which woman has put into Christianity and medicine.A genuine Christian Scientist loves Protestant and Catholic, D. D. and
M. D.; loves all who love God, good;
and he loves his enemies. It will be found that, instead of opposing, such an individual subserves the interests of both medical faculty and Christianity, and they thrive together, learning that Mind-power is good-will toward men. Thus, unfolding the true metal in character, the iron in human nature rusts away; honesty and justice, not "just ice," characterize the seeker and finder of Christian Science.Thanks for the railroad company's courtesy; long live that railroad management, in which "mans a man for a' that!"The pride of place or power is the prize of this world that hath nothing in Christ. Our great Master said:
"Except ye become as a little child, ye cannot enter the kingdom of heaven"—the reign of righteousness,
the glory of good, healing the sick and saving the sinner. The height of my hope must remain. Glory be to Thee, Thou God most high and nigh.Whatever is not divinely natural and demonstrably true in ethics, philosophy, or religion is not of Good and originates in the minds of mortals.
It is the Adam-dream wherein man
the Scriptural allegory, where man is supposed to start from dust andwoman to be the outcome of man's flesh—marriage anonymous with legalized lust, and the offspring of sense the murderers of their brothers!Wholly apart from this mortal dream, this illusion and delusion of sense, Christian Science comes to reveal man as God's image. His idea, co-existent with Him—and God giving all and man having all that God gives. Whence, then, came the creation of matter, sin, and death, mortal pride and power, prestige or privilege? The first commandment of the Hebrew Decalogue, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," and the Golden Rule are the all-in-all of Christian Science. They are the spiritual idealism and realism, which, when realized, constitute a Christian Scientist, heal the sick, reform the sinner, and rob the grave of its victory.The spiritual understanding, which demonstrates Christian Science, enables the devout Scientist to worship, not an unknown God, but Him whom understanding, even in part, he continues to love more and to serve better.Beloved, I am not with you in proper persona at this memorable
Dedication and Communion season.
But I am with you in spirit and in truth, lovingly thanking your generosity and fidelity, and saying virtually what the prophet said: "Continue to choose whom ye will serve."Forgetting the Golden Rule and indulging sin, men cannot serve God;
they cannot demonstrate the omni-potence of divine Mind, that heals the sick and the sinner. Human will may mesmerize and mislead man; divine wisdom, never. Indulging deceit is like the defendant arguing for the plaintiff in favor of a decision, which he knows will be turned against himself.We cannot serve two masters. Do we love God supremely? Are we true to ourselves? "God is not mocked."
"Whoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." To abide in our unsifted better self, is to be done forever with the sins of the flesh, the wrecks of human life, the tempter of damnation. When we have overcome sin in all its forms, men may rejoice and desperately use us, and we shall rejoice, "for great is our reward in heaven."You have dexterously and wisely provided for The Mother Church of Christ, Scientist, a magnificent Temple wherein to enter and pray.
Greatly impressed and encouraged thereby, deeply do I thank you for this proof of your progress, unity,
and love.The modest edifice of The Mother Church of Christ, Scientist, began with the cross; its expanse, Extension is the crown. The room of your leader remains in the beginning of this edifice, evidencing the praise of babes and the Word, which proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Its crowning ultimate rises to a mental monument, a superstructure high above the work of men's hands, even the outcome of their hearts, giving to the material a spiritual significance, the speed, beauty, and achievements of goodness. Methinks this church is the one edifice on earth, which most perfectly self-affirmation, hope, faith, love, catching a glimpse of glory.MARY BAKER G. EDDY.

BENJAMIN F. CARLE AGAIN A CANDIDATE

Will Very Likely be Re-elected Presi-

way Mail Association.Benjamin F. Carle of this city, president of the Tenth Division of the Railway Mail-Clerks' association, has announced himself as candidate for re-election and there is little doubt but that he will be given the honor at the annual meeting, soon to be held. As it is contrary to the body's constitution to allow one member to hold the office more than two consecutive terms it has been and naturally is customary to give all officials whose service is satisfactory a second year. Mr. Carle's administration has been very acceptable and both the Illinois and Paul branches of the division have endorsed him at their annual sessions. The features of Mr. Carle's platform are harcapacitated clerks and the retention

Recently there was a series of bursection of Baltimore. So anxious were the police authorities to apprehend the culprits that instructions were issued to the roundsmen to exercise extraordinary vigilance during their tours.On one occasion just after midnight, an officer saw emerging noiselessly

from a house in Baitaw place a young man, who hastily darted down the street. The officer made after him as rapidly as possible. When he had stopped the young man he said:
"Didn't you come out of the corner house just now?"The young fellow, though of quite a respectable air, seemed ill at ease. "I did," he answered, with some confusion."Do you live in that house?" sternly demanded the officer."That's an impertinent question," replied the young man in a tone of great indignation. "I don't see what business of yours it is, so long as her father doesn't object."—Success.Gripes.

THE STORY OF CLASSIFIED TOWN

CHAPTER XVI.

In Classified Town there resided a man. Who was built on the "never advertise plan. His methods were ancient, so was his store. And business was rushing—past the door. He couldn't pay bills and was forced to fail. And his business wound up in an auction sale. On the classified page folks were apprised. Of the date of the sale, it was there advertised.

The crowd filled the store, and the bidding ran high. And the bankrupt remarked, as he stood idly by:

"Although it's too late my error is plain; From a word of advice I cannot refrain. If you wish success in an up-to-date way, Use Gazette want ads, you'll find it will pay (To be continued tomorrow.)"

MEAT WAR ON IN INDIANA

SELLERS OF "DOCTORED" PRODUCTS TO BE PROSECUTED.

Facts Are Presented to Criminal Court at Indianapolis by State Health Officials.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—Dr. J. N. Hurry, secretary of the state board of health, and H. E. Barnard, chemist of the state board, acting on the advice of Dr. T. Henry Davis, of Richmond, president of the state board of health, and Attorney General Miller, Monday afternoon, presented to Judge, Fremont Alford, of Marion county criminal court, and Prosecutor Charles E. Benedict the result of 85 analyses of meats found on sale in the Indianapolis city market, as a basis for prosecutions to be instituted against the dealers whose meats were found to contain preservative chemicals. The state board of health officials are confident that convictions can be secured.

Dr. Barnard several days ago purchased on the market 49 samples of sausages, hamburger steaks, veal loaf, wienerwurst, bologna and other meat products. Of these 33 were found to have been treated illegally with preservatives, sodium sulphate having been used in nearly every illegal sample.

Dr. Barnard made a second tour of the markets Saturday and quietly purchased 36 samples of the same kinds of meats. In his analysis of these samples he found 16 to be illegal, they having been found to contain preservatives.

On the advice of Attorney General Miller and the officials of the state board of health the presentation of facts was made to the county criminal court. There are 49 separate cases of illegal meats being on sale, involving 30 dealers on the city market. Each presentation set forth the article purchased, the name of the manufacturer, the name of the dealer and the amount of chemicals if any found in the sample.

Each presentation set forth the article purchased, the name of the manufacturer, the name of the dealer and the amount of chemicals if any found in the sample.

Dr. Barnard made a second tour of the markets Saturday and quietly purchased 36 samples of the same kinds of meats. In his analysis of these samples he found 16 to be illegal, they having been found to contain preservatives.

SENDS ICE MEN TO PRISON

One Year in Workhouse and Big Fine for Violating Anti-Trust Law in Ohio.

Toledo, O., June 26.—In common pleas court Monday Judge Kinkade imposed the maximum sentence of $5,000 fine and one year in the workhouse on five ice men guilty of conspiracy in restraint of trade. The men sentenced are:

Joseph A. Miller, who was convicted; R. A. Beard, R. C. Lemmon, H. P. Breining and Peter H. Waters, who pleaded guilty. The judge said the sentence might be mitigated in the event the men made restitution.

The five men, all of them prominent in business and social circles, were taken to the county jail to await the making out of the necessary papers to commit them to the workhouse, unless, in the meantime, they meet Judge Kinkade's requirements of restitution to the public.

Successor to Barnes.

Washington, June 26.—M. C. Latta, of Oklahoma, has been appointed assistant secretary to President Roosevelt to succeed Benjamin B. Barnes, appointed postmaster at Washington. Mr. Latta has several years acted as a communication to the French Academy of Sciences. The metal is shown to boil readily in the furnace at a temperature of 2,400 degrees C. 100 to 150 grains being converted to the gaseous condition within two or three minutes. By condensing the vapor on a cold body, either aluminum, gold or small cubes of crystallized gold are obtained. Like copper, gold at its boiling temperature is found to dissolve a small amount of carbon, which is freed again in the shape of graphite at the moment of solidification.

Gold Can Be Vaporized.

Gold has long been considered one of the most difficult metals to vaporize; in fact, the only known means of accomplishing this is the use of the electric spark.

Professor Henri Moissan, however, showed as early as 1893 that gold is rapidly set boiling in the electric furnace, as much as forty grains of the metal being distilled in the time of a few minutes. He recently resumed his experiments in this direction, and an account of these is found in a communication to the French Academy of Sciences. The metal is shown to boil readily in the furnace at a temperature of 2,400 degrees C. 100 to 150 grains being converted to the gaseous condition within two or three minutes. By condensing the vapor on a cold body, either aluminum, gold or small cubes of crystallized gold are obtained. Many old camels carry the skins of the young ones to the market. Talented and many an older merchant may perform that function for his younger, "cocksure" competitor—if the older man has "learned things" about advertising as his years have passed.

The "hootmen" are men and the consumption of Scotch has begun.

Mouat is not yet certain but he may announce himself in a few days.

Soon the chalet will be here and another of Janesville's summer attractions opened to the public.

New sidewalks all over the city show the real value of the assistant street commissioner and sidewalk inspector's office.

Did you know that the Sinsinipott Golf club is holding the biggest golf tournament ever held in the state at the grounds west of the city?

Davidson's fish-car trip, it appears, was necessary. Good for "Yim." He found a way out of the difficulty that McGillivray was trying to raise.

Houser's trial comes up July 2. The Free Press tells him to withdraw but they have not yet heard from Washington. When they do they'll be singing a different tune.

Rock river is coming for its share of attention this spring as it deserves. Give it time and the old river will be considered as pretty as the Hudson or other famous streams.

Janesville may still have two congressional candidates; Nolan for one on the republican ticket and Mouat on the democratic. Mouat is not yet certain.

The democrats of the county held a convention yesterday and their list showed a much larger number than an actual count of the noses after wards developed. So much for the great unwashed.

The Milwaukee Journal still continues to dictate just how the democratic party shall conduct itself and also gives good advice to the republican party on how they shall honor our junior senator.

The council will soon have the question of the interurban franchise presented to them. That the people of Janesville want the road is certain so it is up to the aldermen to grant the franchise requested.

Men returning from the lead and zinc regions with huge chunks of ore tell wonderful stories of the richness of this or that mine. They do not, however, tell of the hundreds of mines that are not paying a cent and never will.

One divine becomes excited and in a Sunday sermon in a prominent city states that politics are moving and that the fight for nineteen twelve will be Bryan and La Follette. He does not claim to be the seventh son of the seventh daughter either.

Lenroot still believes his band will have the only big genuine, twenty-karat band-wagon in the republican parade when the time for the procession comes and is now engaged in ordering extension seats to accommodate the crowds he expects will want seats.

The Beloit Free Press, seeking to retain a lucrative place for its owner, deprecates Nolan's candidacy and seeks to have harmony prevail in the ranks of the republican party renominating Cooper. It forgets its own opposition opinion of bygone years in seeking for the pull to get the "job."

The announcement of Nolan's candidacy for congress has created considerable excitement throughout the first congressional district. Jeffris' withdrawal was expected, it appears, in Racine, but Nolan appears to have taken hold where Jeffris stepped down and he is looked upon as a formidable candidate.

Milwaukee is seeking endorsement of the press throughout the state of their project to build a vast auditorium to accommodate the holding of the biggest kind of conventions. At odd times it might be utilized as a skating rink, a circus grounds, a horse show or even occupied for the Bowers' ball. However Milwaukee is progressive and should be encouraged.

ROOSEVELT AND WALL STREET.

In speaking of the President and Wall street magnates the Wall Street Journal says: "Wall street, or rather the controlling element in Wall street, is opposed to President Roosevelt."

This, however, is no new thing. It always has been opposed to him.

It was not friendly to the project of making him governor of the state of New York. Even then it considered him erratic, impulsive and inexperienced.

When as governor of New York he caused the enactment of the franchise tax law. His nomination as vice-president was largely a way of getting rid of him as an uncontrollable element in New York state politics.

When as president of the United States he began to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law and brought the suit against the Northern Securities company, the controlling factors in Wall street became extremely hostile to him.

His interference in the anthracite coal strike served to increase the dislike with which the great capitalists regarded him. He secured the enactment of a publicity law by which the bureau of corporations was created. That did not serve to increase his popularity in Wall street. He had secured such a hold upon the people, however, that it was impossible to prevent his reelection in 1904. Since then he has continued his policy of bringing the corporations more and more under government regulation. In rapid succession have come his determined advocacy of a railroad rate bill, his investigation of the Standard Oil company, and his demand for radical reform in the Chicago slaughter houses.

It was not to be expected that the financial interests thus attacked would be friendly to the administration which has moved against them. The railroads, the coal operators, the Standard Oil capitalists, the beef packers and the various trusts which have been subjected to criticism, to annoyance, and in some cases to legal prosecution by reason of President Roosevelt's policy, are powerful in the great financial interests which center in Wall street. And yet it would be unfair to Wall street not to qualify the statement that it is in antagonism to Roosevelt. There is a large section of Wall street which believes that in the main his program of publicity, of regulation, and of enforcement of law against corporations is wise, and in the end for the benefit of property interests throughout the country. Below the upper strata of Wall street, finance there is a considerable element in Wall street which is pleased with the courage with which he has moved for the removal of those evils that are responsible for a feeling of popular resentment against financial leadership.

On the other hand, it should be said that among those who oppose the president there are not a few who are entirely sincere in the belief that his methods are dangerous and wrong, however right his aims, and this belief is not wholly due to their pecuniary interests. Because they are critical of the president because they think that he is dictatorial; that he is unduly magnifying the powers of the president, wrongfully interfering with the functions of congress, and in some cases unfair to persons who have stood in the way of the carrying out of his plans.

Moreover there are many who fear that the president is going too far and too fast. There are some who hold to this opinion other than those whose immediate interests in the markets are jeopardized by his policy. These people fear that the president is impeding American prosperity by making capital timid. Go into the banking houses and you will hear such comment as this: "If the crops turn out good, the only thing that will stand in the way of another year of business prosperity is Roosevelt. No one knows what he will do next."

Now it is to the president's credit that he has "made good," as the saying is, in every action he has thus far taken. His suit against the Northern Securities company was upheld in the courts. His action in the coal strike has been ratified by a coal agreement between the operators and the miners. His demand for rate regulation is backed by the public opinion of the country. No one can read the Garfield report on the Standard Oil without being impressed by the fact that in the main its findings are confirmed by the proof submitted. Moreover it is a most notable fact that all that the president has done in regard to corporation reform has not interfered in the least with the development of an amazing national prosperity. The fiscal year just closing is the fourth since he has been president, and it records the high water mark of American industrial activity and wealth.

It is evident, however, that the antagonism between the president and the great financial interests which control the big trusts and combinations of the country has not yet reached its crisis. The London Times says that "all the great kindred trusts, the Standard Oil ring, the great confederacies of capital of every kind, know that the days of their unfettered power are numbered unless they can hold in check Mr. Roosevelt and his forces of which he is every day becoming more openly the leader." This being true, Mr. Roosevelt, and his policy are today more than ever before the most important factor in the financial situation in this country and the struggle in which the president is engaged will make one of the most impressive chapters in American history.

Superior Telegram: The Milwaukee Journal insists that President Roosevelt was right when he said that publicity is one of the best remedies for crime. In proof of this the Journal says that Alderman Morris of Kansas City cut off his side whiskers after they had been referred to in the newspapers as "fire escapes.""Holler Than Thou," Kronshage.
Milwaukee News: It must be a source of gratification to Mr. Kronshage, "reformer" and president of The Press company, that the organ of which he is the nominal head at last has been so shocked over Mr. Houser's "indiscretion" that it has felt moved to ask for his resignation. Mr. Kronshage "got his" from a book company.Mine Stock As "Household Pet."
Rockford Register-Gazette: A Rockford woman who had $500 to invest wrote her lawyer the other day telling him she had been urged to put it in a Wisconsin mine and that she had been promised a dividend of five per cent a month. She asked if she should buy the stock. "If you can delude yourself with the idea that the mephitic mephitic will make a nice 'household pet,'" he replied, "then buy the mining stock." She hasn't bought it yet.General Bragg's Democracy.
La Crosse Leader-Press: It will not cause great surprise to learn that General Edward S. Bragg, if not support William J. Bryan, the latter is nominated for the presidency. The doughty general is never happy unless he can disagree with somebody and, though nominally a democrat, the times when he has been in line with his party and supported his party candidates have been few. He has throughout his political career been much more conspicuous as a bolter than as a party leader.The Editor Refuses Office.
Jewel City, (Kan.) Republican: A postoffice and a newspaper each require somebody's undivided attention. Men qualified to run either one satisfactorily are hard to hold these days.

Another reason is that when a man has held a good office eight years he ought to teach himself to be satisfied and get out and give somebody else a chance. The third reason is that a woman whose judgment is pretty good was dead set against our having the office any longer. She claims that it is better to live on less and have a little more time to enjoy what we do have.

Visiting Sin On Father.
Chicago Chronicle: A curious story comes from Oregon of a boy of sixteen whose depravity and lawlessness had made him the terror of all who knew him. He recently threw a hammer at a man and fractured his skull. The man's death is expected and the strangest part of the story is that the judge before whom the affair was laid has professed a strong inclination to hold not only the boy but his grossly neglectful father responsible for the crime. This appears to be a new departure in law. It may not be possible to "make it stick," but if something of the kind could be established it would soon greatly reduce the crop of vicious and murderous young hoodlums which parental neglect is making altogether too abundant in our cities and towns.Governor Davidson's Campaign.
Oshkosh Northwestern: The Janesville Gazette remarks that Governor Davidson is still "hammering it into the minds of the people that he is the logical candidate." On the contrary the governor is doing nothing of the kind. True he has made one or two little speeches in which he has incidentally referred to politics, without any self ostentation or laudation; however, and he has also made a few trips to various parts of the state, during which he has taken the occasion to shake hands with the people and exchange greetings and compliments with the latter. But neither by word or act has he given any indication that he is greedily seeking the favor of the people, or asking of them more than their honest, conscientious support. If they feel he is entitled to it and are willing to give it.

Foot races, a pole climbing contest, a potato race, a tug of war composed the outdoor program. This evening a large crowd will be on the grounds. Singing by the Mozart Singing Society and dancing will be the pleasure.

Mrs. JENNIE MURRAY

of Evansville, and her daughter drove 15 miles to Janesville today to secure the services of Dr. F. T. Richards, who they had heard could extract teeth PAINLESSLY.

Mrs. Murray, in speaking to her son, said, "I've had them all out (nine in number) and they DIDN'T HURT A BIT."

He could hardly believe it, but she soberly affirmed that Dr. Richards did the best of any dentist she ever had work for her.

The daughter also had him work for her and she also said that he DIDN'T HURT.

As the old settler said, "Where there's smoke there must be some fire."

A FOOL FOR LOVE

By FRANCIS LYND

AUTHOR OF "THE GRAYERS," ETC.

(Copyright, 1906, by J. P. Lippincott & Co.)

CHAPTER VI.

While the technologist was dispensing commissary tea in iron-stone china cups to his two guests in the "dimity" field office, his chief, taking the Rosemary's night train in reverse, in the company of Town Marshal Biggin, was turning the Rajah's coup into a small Utah profit.

Having come upon the ground late the night before, and from the opposite direction, he had seen nothing of the extension grade west of Argentine. Hence the enforced journey to Carbonate only anticipated an inspection trip which he had intended to make as soon as he had seated Adams firmly in the track-laying saddle.

Not to miss his opportunity, at the first curve beyond Argentine he passed his clear case, to Biggin, and asked permission to ride on the rear platform of the day coach for inspection purposes.

"Say, pardner, what do you take me for, anyhow?" was the reproachful rejoinder.

"For a gentleman in disguise," said Winton, promptly.

"Similarly, I do you, savvy? You tell me you ain't goin' to stampe, and you ride anywhere you 'blame please. See? This here C. & G. R. outfit ain't got no surcingle on me."

Winton smiled.

"I haven't any notion of stampeding. As it happens, I'm only a day ahead of time. I should have made this run to-morrow of my own accord to have a look at the extension grade. You will find me on the rear platform when you want me."

"Good enough," was the reply; and Winton went to his post of observation.

Greatly to his satisfaction, he found that the trip over the C. & G. R. answered every purpose of a preliminary inspection of the Utah grade beyond

"LET'S HIKE OUT O' THIS, PRONTO!"

Argentine. For 17 of the 26 miles the two lines were scarcely more than a stone's throw apart, and when Biggin joined him at the junction above Carbonate he had his note-book well filled with the necessary data.

"Make it, all right?" inquired the friendly balliff.

"Yes, thinks. Have another cigar?"

"Don't care if I do. Say, that old fire-eater back yonder in the private car has got a mighty pretty gal, ain't he?"

"The young lady is his niece," said Winton, wishing that Mr. Biggin would find other food for comment.

"I don't care; she's pretty as a Jersey two-year-old," observed Winton; and then, to background Miss Carteret effectually as a topic, "How do the people of Argentine feel about the opposition to our line?"

"They're red-hot; you can put your money on that. The C. & G. R.'s a sure-enough tail-twister where there ain't no competition. Your road'll get every pound of ore in the camp if it ever gets through."

Winton made a mental note of this up-cast of public opinion, and set it over against the friendly attitude of the official Mr. Biggin. It was very evident that the town marshal was sewing the Rajah's purpose only because he had to.

"I suppose you stand with your townsman on that, don't you?" he ventured.

"Now you're shouting; that's me."

"Then if that is the case, we won't take this little holiday of ours any harder than we can help. When the court business is settled—it won't take very long—you are to consider yourself my guest. We stop at the Buckingham."

"Oh, we do, do we? Say, pardner, that's white—mighty white. If I'd been an inch or so more'n half awake this morning when that old blubberer's hired man routed me out, I'd a' told him to go to blazes with his warrant. Next time I will."

Winton shook his head. "There ain't going to be any next time, Peter, my son," he prophesied. "When Mr. Dawrah gets fairly down to business he'll throw bigger chunks than the Argentine town marshal at us."

By this time the train was slowing into Carbonate, and a few minutes after the stop at the crowded platform they were making their way up the single bustling street of the town to the courthouse.

"Ever see so many tin-horns and bunco people bunched in all your round-ups?" said Biggin as they elbowed through the uneasy, shifting groups in front of the hotel.

"Not often," Winton admitted. "But it's the lack of the big camps; they are the dumping grounds of the world while the high pressure is on."

"The ex-range rider turned on the courthouse steps to look the sidewalk loungers over with narrowing eyes."

"There's Sheeny Mike and Big Otto and half a dozen others right there in front of the Buckingham that couldn't stay to breathe twice in Argentine. And this town's got a police!" the comment with lip-curling scorn.

"It also has a county court which is probably waiting for us," said Winton; whereupon they went in to appease the offended majesty of the law.

As Winton had predicted, his answer to the court summons was a mere formality. On parting with his chief at the Argentine station platform, Adams' first care had been to wire news of the arrest to the Utah headquarters. Hence Winton found the company's attorney waiting for him in Judge Whitcomb's courtroom, and his release on an appearance bond was only a matter of moments.

The legal affair dismissed, there ensued a weary interval of time-killers. There was no train back to Argentine until nearly five o'clock in the afternoon, and the hours dragged heavily for the two, who had nothing to do but wait. Biggin endured his part of it manfully till the midday dinner had been discussed; then he drifted off with one of Winton's cigars between his teeth, saying that he should "take poison" and shoot up the town if he could not find some more peaceful means of keeping his blood in circulation.

It was a little after three o'clock, and Winton was sitting at the writing-table in the lobby of the hotel elaborating his hasty note-book data of the morning's inspection, when a boy came in with a telegram. The young engineer was not so deeply engrossed in his work as to be deaf to the colloquy.

"Mr. John Winton? Yes, he is here somewhere," said the clerk in answer to the boy's question; and after an identifying glance, "There he is—over at the writing table."

Winton turned in his chair and saw the boy coming towards him; also saw the rufian pointed out by Biggin from the courthouse steps and labeled "Sheeny Mike" lounging up to the clerk's desk for a whispered word with the bedlamoned gentleman behind it.

"What followed was cataclysmal in its way. The lounge took three staggering lurches towards Winton, brushed the messenger boy aside, and burst out in a storm of maudlin invective."

"Sign yourself 'Winton' now, do ye, ye low-down, turkey-trodden!"

"One minute," said Winton, curtly, taking the telegram from the boy and signing for it.

"I'll give ye more'n ye can carry away in less'n half that time—see?" was the minatory retort; and the threat was made good by an awkward buffet which would have knocked the engineer out of his chair if he had remained in it.

Now Winton's eyes were gray and steadfast, but his hair was of that shade of brown which takes the tint of dull copper in certain lights, and he had a temper which went with the red in his hair rather than with the gray in his eyes. Wherefore his attempt to placate his assailant was something less than diplomatic.

"You 'drunkan'—scoundrel!" he snapped, "if you don't go about your business and let me alone, I'll turn you over to the police with a broken bone or two!"

The bully's answer was a blow delivered straight from the shoulder—too straight, to harmonize with the fiction of drunkenness; Winton saw the sober purpose in it and went battle-mad, as a last man will. Being a skillful boxer—which his antagonist was not—he did what he had to do neatly and with commendable dispatch. Down, up, down, up, down a third time, and then the bystanders interfered.

"Hold on!"

"That'll do!"

"Don't you see he's drunk?"

"Enough's as good as a fast—let him go."

Winton's blood was up, but he desisted, breathing threatenings. Whereat Biggin shouldered his way into the circle.

"Pay your bill and let's hike out o' this, pronto," he said in a low tone. "You ain't got no time to fool with a Carbonate justice shop."

But Winton was not to be brought to his senses so easily.

"Run away from that swine? Not if I know it. Let him take it into court if he wants to. I'll be there, too!"

The beaten one was up now and apparently looking for an officer.

"I'm takin' ye all to witness," he replied. "I was only askin' him to cash up what he lost to me las' night, and he jumps me. But I'll stick him if there's any law in this camp."

Now all this time Winton had been holding the unopened telegram crumpled in his fist, but when Biggin pushed him out of the circle and thrust him up to the clerk's desk, he thought him to read the message. It was Virginia's warning, signed by Adams, and a single glance at the clock ing sentence was enough to cool him suddenly.

"Pay the bill, Biggin, and join me in the billiard room, quick!" he whispered, pressing money into the town marshal's hand and losing himself in the crowd. And when Biggin had obeyed his instructions: "Now for a back way out of this if there is one. We'll have to take to the hills till train time."

They found a way through the bar and out into a side street, leading abruptly up to the fire-clad hills behind the town. Biggin held his peace until they were safe from immediate danger of pursuit. Then his curiosity got the better of him.

"Didn't take you more'n a week to change your mind about pullin' it off with that tin-horn scrapper in the courts, did it?"

"No," said Winton.

"'Taint none o' my business, but I'd like to know what stampeed you."

"A telegram," shortly. "It was a put-up job to have me locked up on a criminal charge, and so hold me out another day."

Biggin grinned. "The old blubberer, again. Say, he's a holy terror, ain't he?"

"He doesn't mean to let me build my railroad if he can help it."

The ex-cowboy found his sack of chip tobacco and dexterously rolled a cigarette in a bit of brown wrapping paper.

DEFEAT HEAD TAX ON IMMIGRANTS

MEMBERS OF HOUSE BELIEVE IT WOULD BE DETRIMENTAL.

HAVEN FOR THE PERSECUTED

Those Seeking to Enter United States in Order to Escape from Political or Religious Persecution Are Welcome.

Washington, June 26.—Under a rule limiting debate on all but two sections, the so-called immigration bill was discussed for three hours Monday in the house and passed without a yea and nay vote being permitted on any of the paragraphs.

This bill attracted much attention, the representatives having large foreign colonies in their districts lining up generally against the head tax of five dollars, which was defeated, and against the educational test.

Two distinct camps developed during the consideration of this section of the bill, both intent on achieving victory and the amendment to the committee bill reducing the tax from five dollars to two dollars was debated earnestly by Mr. Stearnson (Minn.), Mr. Gardner (Mass.), Mr. Bennett (N. Y.), Mr. Bartholdt (Mo.) and Mr. Burnett (Ala.).

It was insisted on the one hand that a five dollar tax would tend to decrease the number of aliens and tend to exclude the less desirable. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bartholdt, however, believed that the amendment was intended to keep out the southern Italians, the Hungarians, the Poles and the Slovaks. It was their opinion that it would penalize immigrants such as the Germans, Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, Finns, Irish and Scotch and English who came usually with large families.

Haven of Refuge for Jews.

The recent atrocities in Russia resulting in the killing of many Jews and the murders at Kishineff came in for strong and vigorous speeches on the part of Mr. Littauer (N. Y.), and Mr. Goldfogle (N. Y.). Mr. Littauer offered the following amendment, which was adopted without division:

"An immigrant who proves that he is seeking admission to this country solely to avoid prosecution or punishment on religious or political grounds; for an offense of a political character or prosecution involving danger of imprisonment or danger to life or limb on account of religious belief shall not be deported because of want of means or the probability of his being unable to earn a livelihood." He spoke sympathetically of the political refugees who, driven from home, seek this country because of their belief in religious persecution is unknown.

In supporting the amendment, Mr. Goldfogle said he favored even a broader provision, which would exempt the persecuted refugees from the educational qualification test. America, he said, had always been regarded as the haven to which, if the immigrant was worthy he could come to escape from the tyranny, race tolerance and oppression to which he had been subjected in his native land. Now that the streets of Russia ran red with blood of the victims of persecution and the civilization of the world had been "shamed" by the wholesale slaughter of inoffensive men, women and children, America ought not to close the doors to those who are fleeing to this country for protection.

Mr. Grosvenor opposed the amendment on the ground that he did not want the immigration inspectors at the port of entry constituted a tribunal to pass upon the question of religious belief which the government had carefully avoided in all the past.

Educational Test.

The section relating to the educational test was then taken up and Mr. Denby (Mich.) offered the following amendment, which was adopted:

"Provided further, in case of an immigrant who proves that he is seeking admission to this country solely to avoid religious persecution or punishment on religious or political grounds or for an offense of a political character or persecution involving danger of imprisonment or danger to life or limb on account of religious belief, such immigrant may be admitted although unable to satisfy the educational test provided in this section at the discretion of the secretary of commerce and labor or under such regulations as he may from time to time prescribe."

Mr. Grosvenor (O.) presented a substitute for the educational test as provided for in the bill, the following being its important provision:

"That a commission is hereby created, consisting of two senators, to be appointed by the president of the senate and three members of the house of representatives and two citizen members to be appointed by the president of the United States. Said commission shall make full inquiry, examination and investigation into the subject of immigration."

The substitute was adopted.

SUGGESTIONS FOR ANGLERS

Some of Which May Be of Value to the Untrained Lover of Fishing.

If trout refuse to rise change your flies.

Open the stomach of your first fish. What they are feeding on is the right bait to use, advises the St. Paul Dispatch.

Yellow perch will rise to artificial flies as readily as trout. So will sunfish, crappies and bass.

Keep frogs in a box perforated with holes. Keep plenty of grass in the box and do not give them water. They will keep in lively condition thus for ten days.

If you are a hard bait or fly caster it is best to have an extra reel, in case the one you are using goes to pieces.

To catch frogs take the landing net. Throw it over the frog, give it a quick flip and the frog is inside.

Polish your tackle before starting out. Spoons, lines and hooks should always be in first-class order.

South and west winds are best for fishing. When the wind is in the north or east just lie around and wait for it to shift.

Fly casting can be made perfect by practice. The rule among trout fly casters is to use the smallest possible line, but the larger the line the easier the cast.

An authority declares that a pound trout does not pull more than eight ounces in his fight against being landed.

After trout fishing the leaders should be dried. Hang the line from the limb of a tree, placing a light weight on the lower fly or the end of the leader. Then coil it up and get it ready for the next trip.

A good fly for bass is the "bucktail." It is made from hair of the deer tail, and will not mat.

Good trout flies—Silver Doctor, Brown Hackle, Permacille Belle, Montreal.

Don't wash fish. When it is desired to keep them simply draw and wipe them.

TORTURE RELICS ON SALE

Such Instruments as Drunkard's Cloak, Iron Boot and Foot Squeezers Offered.

Several torture relics were put up for auction at Stevens' Court Garden, the other day, but they did not excite much competition. There were no eager bidders, even for a hangman's rope. A patrician was all that was given for one which had been used by the renowned Berry, says the London Daily News.

An iron screw, or foot squeezer, was bought for $1, and the same figure was paid for a set of double stocks, and also for what is termed a "drunkard's cloak."

The last named is one of those instruments of old which was intended to put the delinquent to shame. It is shaped like a huge pall and the drunkard who was to be disgraced was fastened into it with only his head visible through a narrow aperture at the top. The cloak gave the wearer the minimum of room, the hands being practically pinned to the sides, and walking was only possible in a kind of shuffling movement.

Other articles sold were an ancient whipping post with shackles from Oxford, two sets of shackles which were used in old Newgate prison, ancient branding irons and an iron "boot," into which the victim's naked foot was placed and boiling oil poured in, all of which sold at 12 shillings each.

An ancient chair from the castle of Noreburg, in which people were secured for torture, fetched 18 shillings, and an iron torture collar with spikes, 21 shillings.

DIFFERENCE IN METHODS.

Americans Get Right to Work on a Project, Germans Call for Bismarck.

The conversation in the smoking room of the sleeping car had drifted around to the characteristics of the races, relates the Saturday Evening Post.

"I like your people," said a German, who had been listening. "I have been in this country for 30 years, acting as an immigration agent for my people and assisting them to settle here when they come to this country."

"Now, take a party of Americans when a new territory is opened or some public land thrown open for settlement. They ride, or drive, in, get their land, select a place for the village, stake out the streets and then somebody gets up on a stump calls a meeting and nominates John Jones for mayor. In ten minutes they have a municipality and everything is going along all right."

"If a party of Germans was in the same place, what would they do? When it came time to organize their village they would stand around for three hours and then somebody would ask: 'Where is Bismarck?'"

BONUS PREVENTS STRIKES

System Employed by Champagne Manufacturers Averts Wage Troubles.

The manufacturers of champagne in France have adopted a policy which is an effective preventive of strikes among their workmen. Thousands of men are employed in the great champagne industry, but in recent years strikes among them have been unknown. The employers have discovered a preventive, and demonstrated its practicability. This is a bonus system, which, to a great extent, makes the interests of the employer those of his men, inspires the workmen with a feeling of personal interest in the business and which prevents them from taking any step which might endanger its prosperity.

Every employee who merits it is paid annually a bonus in addition to his wages. The bonus is not made part of the contract between employer and employee, but it is well understood that employees who make good records will receive it. No employee knows what his standing with the firm is until the day for paying the bonuses arrives. Each employee has his record carefully kept, and upon it his bonus depends. In addition to the bonus, the workers in the champagne industry are provided, so far as possible, against the ordinary ills of the workingman, due to a lack of funds at times of emergency. They have an organization, to which their employers contribute liberally and otherwise encourage. The object of the society is to provide mutual help in case of sickness or misfortune. Every member's wife to whom a child is born has her doctor's bill paid and, in addition, receives 20 francs (four dollars) with which to purchase the infant's first clothing.

SHEEP KILLER BIG BEAR.

Pennsylvania Farmers Put an End to the Destroyer of Their Flocks.

One of the blackest and bloodiest robbers ever known in Potter county was caught near Prouty in a wolf trap, reports the Philadelphia Record. The robber had stolen and killed 14 sheep from various farmers within three weeks, and as each sheep was worth seven dollars the mutton was worth almost as much as the robber—a big black bear.

Morning after morning following raids upon the flocks half eaten carcasses of sheep were found at the edge of fields or along old roadways. The farmers at first thought the slaughter was the work of a lynx, of which there are several known in that section. But one morning they found caught in the big-jawed wolf trap, which had been set the night before with a generous piece of mutton the biggest black bear that he had ever seen. And the bear was mad—mad as a hornet—but a bullet from a rifle killed him.

The bear weighed a little better than 300 pounds. The farmers around Prouty who lost sheep each had bear meat for dinner the next day.

SWEDES TAKE FINN NAMES

Curious Form of Recreation That Is Setting In Among That People.

Recent agitations in Finland are producing a curious form of reaction. The country is full of Swedes, among whom, perhaps, with a view to the possible contingencies of a Russian break up, the Swedish government has always encouraged a movement of solidarity.

The Swedish party has always been one of the strongest in the diet, and lately there have been strong signs of anti-Swedish feeling among the other sections, and in public opinion throughout the province. Fortunately, the Swedish population in the country has realized the danger in time, and recognizing that Swedish associations were all in the past, while all future interests lay in Finland, has taken practical steps to merge itself absolutely in the life of its adopted country. The Helsingfors Official Gazette a few days ago contained a list of 20,000 Swedes who were discarding Swedish for Finnish names.

Peasants of Sardinia.

Sardinia was a wild place in the middle of the last century. A traveler says: "The men are clothed in goat skins, one before and another behind, without breeches, shoes or stockings, and a woolen or skin cap on the head. The women have no other habiliments than a long woolen gown and a woolen cap. The peasants always go armed to defend themselves from one another, so that traveling in the interior is extremely unsafe without an escort; and it is even dangerous for ships to send their people on shore for water unless they are well armed. In short, the Sardinians are the Malays of the Mediterranean."

Names and Divorces.

An Australian divorce court judge thinks that there is a subtle connection between high-sounding feminine baptismal names and matrimonial unhappiness. He has noticed that the names which generally come under his judicial cognizance are Gladys, Gwendolen, Erynurude and the like, and that he seldom or never in his official capacity hears of a Mary or a Bridget.

Made a Difference.

"How far is it to Oconomowoc?" asked the tourist.

"Just about eight miles more as the crow flies," replied the obliging farmer.

"I know, but if the crow was in an auto, how far would it be?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Oyster Culture.

The Maryland shellfish commission is studying oyster culture in the proper way by learning in Connecticut just how the thing is done. Oyster culture has long been practiced in France and Japan, to say nothing of Virginia. Many years ago Dr. Brooks' book on the subject laid down the principles that underlie the successful prosecution of the industry.

Novel Outing.

A Gospel song outing is the latest thing in the way of amusement in Philadelphia. A crowd of people hire a special trolley car for the evening, then start on a tour of the city, singing hymns. It is said that not only the people in the car but those on the sidewalks and in the houses enjoy the singing.

Lightning Kills Fish.

A peculiar result of lightning was noticed in France, after a severe thunderstorm. A bolt struck a small pond just outside the city, and it was discovered that the electric shock had killed all the fish in the water, about 1,000 in number.

Garlic Drives Out Wheat.

One little weed, brought inadvertently from Europe about 100 years ago, has caused a loss of $1,500,000 a year to the wheat growers of the eastern states. This weed is garlic. In Maryland, Virginia and Tennessee garlic has almost driven out the wheat. The garlic yields a little bulblet, which is about the size and shape of the wheat kernel, but which greatly impedes milling by gumming the rollers. In this respect garlic bulblets are more difficult to deal with than the "tares" which figured in the biblical parable.

The government has lately been experimenting with this matter, and has worked out a probable solution by means of artificial drying. By this means the bulblets are made lighter than the wheat and may all be fanned out and cast into the fires prepared for the "tares."

Oldest Negro Lawyer.

Thomas P. Johnson, 94 years old, the oldest negro lawyer in Arkansas, died recently after 36 years' active practice of law. He was licensed as an attorney by Associate Justice Bowen, of the Arkansas supreme court, in July, 1870. He was a slave, and belonged to a planter in Deha county, in Arkansas.

Passing of Noted Chemist.

Prof. Robert Ogden Doremus, the noted chemist, who died in New York a short time ago, aged 52 years, was a well-known expert on the effects of poison. He equipped the first laboratory in the United States for instructing medical students in analytical chemistry. At least 50,000 young men have been his students.
